Senior Vice President Chief Information Officer

Donna Peters is the Senior Vice President and Chief Information Officer (CIO) for TriHealth. In this role, Donna is responsible for the strategic direction and operational performance of information systems, information systems security, clinical informatics, and data and analytics for the organization.

Since beginning her TriHealth career as an applications programmer in 1998, Donna has taken on and excelled in progressively more responsible information systems technical and leadership roles – from Project Leader to Vice President of Information Technology. Her collaborative servant leadership style has played a central role in elevating and enhancing all aspects of technology and data to advance TriHealth's ability to care for our patients and community.

Donna earned her Bachelor of Science degree from St. John's University and her Master of Business Administration degree from Virginia College.

Donna is a member of the College of Healthcare Information Management Executives (CHIME) and a member of CHIEF, a private network focused on connecting and supporting women executive leaders.
