Accomplishing More Together

Dear Foundation Family:

When we experience difficult times in our lives, we often find ourselves saying, "At least we have our health." As a member of the Good Samaritan Hospital Foundation family, you understand that ultimately, our health and our relationships are all that really matter. When those are in jeopardy, Good Sam is here to care for the whole person and family. This is possible because of your generosity, and for that I am deeply grateful.

Looking back upon this last year, I could not be more proud of what we have accomplished together. In FY 2015 the Foundation gave $5.4 million of support to Good Samaritan Hospital, the Good Samaritan Free Health Center, and the Good Samaritan College of Nursing and Health Science. This record-breaking year was possible because of you, and your gifts are hard at work in a multitude of ways. From the Robotics Program to the Behavioral Health Unit and beyond, we are committed to reaching the best outcomes possible to maximize the impact of your investments.

As a family of donors, our reasons for giving are as unique as each one of us, but our underlying motivation is the same: provide the highest quality and most compassionate care possible. In this issue you will see some of our family's stories about why they give and why Good Sam means so much to them. While only a few are highlighted, please know that we appreciate your story as well; it takes all of us coming together to continue to provide the best-in-class care for which Good Samaritan is known.

I hope these pages serve as a celebration of our momentous achievement this past year as well as a reminder of the difference you make in people's lives every single day. During those hardest times when we cannot say, "at least we have our health," thankfully we can say, "at least we have Good Sam." And so can the Greater Cincinnati community and beyond, because of your dedication and support. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Good Samaritan Hospital
FOUNDATION
*Ensuring Compassionate Care
That Will Last A Lifetime*

Women of Compassion

On Friday, May 8, 2015, Good Samaritan Hospital Foundation honored 11 extraordinary women in celebration of its 10th Women of Compassion event at the Queen City Club.

Women of Compassion both honors and supports Good Samaritan Hospital's history of strong women determined to make a difference that began with its founding by the Sisters of Charity in 1852. Developed by the Foundation's Women in Philanthropy Advisory Group, Women of Compassion is a tribute program to honor the remarkable women in our lives while also making a difference for our community. A woman is nominated by her family, friends, or colleagues through a $1,000 gift to the area of their choice at Good Samaritan Hospital or Good Samaritan College of Nursing and Health Science. In the last decade, this group has raised more than $135,000 to support vital efforts at the hospital and the college.

THE WOMEN OF COMPASSION CLASS OF 2015 INCLUDES:

Susan Geary nominated by Mary Beth Gibbons, MD

Lynn Bourgraf nominated by Joann Lohr, MD

Rita Riga Cucinotta nominated by Tina Colbert

Colleen Sterling nominated by J. Michael Smith, MD

Patricia Martin nominated by Carolyn Burke and JoAnn Strong

Sally Verdin nominated by Clare Allaire, Mary Jo Kathman, and Diane Motz

Jayne Hirth nominated by Lesli Schmeltzer

Carol Murrish nominated by Karen Gersch, MD

Ann Poynter nominated by Zita Jeanmougin

Mary Rath nominated by Karen Krieg

Mary Pat Raupach nominated by Ken Raupach

When “I THINK” is not good enough...

Knowing who is the beneficiary of your insurance, retirement plans, annuities and IRAs is a critical piece of your estate planning. If you were asked would you respond – “I think ...” or “I’m sure it must be...?”

Naming beneficiaries is critical. It controls not only how the asset is going to pass upon your death but can also have large estate and income tax consequences. If a beneficiary is not specifically named, your “estate” is often the default beneficiary. Your beneficiary designation takes precedence over your Last Will and Testament. Not only may the resultant beneficiary be contrary to what you desire, but that asset must be processed through the Probate Court system to be distributed according to the terms of your Last Will and Testament.

Often, beneficiary designations are completed when the asset is acquired. When you began your IRA, purchased the life insurance, or began to be covered under your Employer Retirement Plan, you should have named a beneficiary. However, the beneficiary designation you made then may be quite different from how you would complete a beneficiary designation now.

It is possible the individuals you named are deceased, or no longer the appropriate beneficiary. It is possible you named no one. Have you named both a Primary and a Contingent Beneficiary? Naming a charity, such as Good Samaritan Hospital, as a beneficiary may have favorable tax benefits. Your financial or legal advisor can assist you in that regard.

You should look at each policy or retirement plan and see if you have a copy of the most recent beneficiary designation. If you do not, you should immediately contact the company to supply you with a copy of what they currently have on file for you. You might be surprised if the response is “nothing is on file”.

Don’t rely on “I think ...” or “I’m sure it must be...” Be certain. Check each item. Make sure that each beneficiary is not only on record with the company, but that they accurately reflect your wishes. If you would like more information on this subject or any other estate planning topics, please contact Kelly Rowland, director of development, Good Samaritan Hospital Foundation, 513.862.3787 or kelly_rowland@trihealth.com.

NEWS FROM THE GOOD SAMARITANS OF GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL FOUNDATION

Melissa Kennedy, Dr. Michael Marcotte, Cindy Ortner and Nancy Fehr

At their annual membership meeting in May 2015, Cindy Ortner of The Good Samaritans of Good Samaritan Hospital Foundation made the following award presentations from the proceeds of the 2015 Gala:

Women's Services for the Purchase of Ultrasound Equipment	$246,282
Medical Education Research Fund	$ 67,350
Good Samaritan Free Health Center	$ 67,350

Cindy Rodriguez was installed as the new president of The Good Samaritans and announced that the 32nd Annual Gala would be held on Saturday, February 6, 2016 at the Hyatt Regency Cincinnati. The theme will be "My Big Fat Italian Gala" and will support the creation of the Concussion Management Program at Good Samaritan Hospital as well as Good Samaritan Free Health Center and Medical Education Research Fund.

Cindy Rodriguez will work with Sarah Klein to chair this event and Dr. Emily Dixon will serve as Physician Champion. Ticket prices range from $500 - $1,000 and a variety of corporate sponsorship and underwriting opportunities are available.

DONOR-SUPPORTED ROBOTICS AT GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL:

Thoracic Surgeon, Karen A. Gersch, MD

Leading Globally, Caring Locally

There is a well-known saying that a small, dedicated group of people can change the world. This certainly holds true for a group of donors who, this past year, have propelled Good Sam's Robotics Program to the forefront of minimally invasive, robotic assisted surgery across the country and the world. Their gifts enabled the purchase of the da Vinci Xi and Magellan surgical robotic systems, which have already been put to work by the skill and expertise of our gifted surgeons.

da Vinci Xi: With intense precision, the da Vinci Xi is used in multiple types of procedures, including cardiothoracic surgery. This past spring, Good Sam surgeons performed successful surgeries to treat a cardiac bypass and lung cancer. The da Vinci Xi continues to draw surgeons from all over the country to Good Sam to train using another donor-supported resource, the Minimally Invasive Training Center.

Magellan: Designed for use in complex vascular surgery, Good Samaritan Hospital is one of only ten hospitals in the country to offer the benefits of the Magellan system. In June, Hansen Medical, maker of the Magellan, announced that Good Sam has the world's first multi-specialty program for Magellan robotic-assisted surgery. With six different physicians from three different specialties using this technology, Good Samaritan Hospital has quickly become a global Center of Excellence for Magellan robotic-assisted procedures. To date, Good Sam has treated more patients with Magellan in 2015 than any other hospital worldwide.

To have world-class surgeons taking care of our community at Good Sam is a tremendous gift; to equip them with the best technology available and thus provide the best possible care for patients is invaluable. Thank you to the small, dedicated group of donors who made this possible.

Honoring someone with a Spirit of Compassion donation is a wonderful opportunity to let a physician, nurse, or staff member know that the care they have provided has made a difference. Your generous donation will also make a difference in the lives of others by helping to maintain our high level of care. You can choose where your donation will be most impactful by designating where it should be applied. An acknowledgment will be sent to the caregiver, letting them know of your appreciation. Spirit of Compassion donors play an important role in uplifting staff's spirits and boosting their morale.

We invite you to share in our sincere commitment of compassionate care. Please know that through just one gracious gesture you will have helped ensure that Good Sam's history of quality care will continue for generations to come.

My husband had surgery and it warms my heart to see such great, compassionate, and professional caregivers.

They were very professional and compassionate in their care for me, and really helped me be at peace. Their dedication went above and beyond their job descriptions.

We were extremely pleased with the extraordinary service provided by the entire staff.

Foundation Honors Legacy Society Members

On Wednesday, May 20, 2015, Good Samaritan Hospital Foundation honored its Legacy Society members at a Top of the Park rooftop terrace experience at the Marriott Residence Inn in downtown Cincinnati. Everyone attending the event had a wonderful night filled with food, drinks, camaraderie, and a wonderful view of the city and riverfront!

The Legacy Society was created 24 years ago to ensure that Good Sam's tradition of excellence, innovation, and compassion will continue to thrive well into the future to provide care to everyone who enters our doors. There are currently 222 Legacy members who have included Good Samaritan Hospital in their estate plans.

For more information on how to become a Legacy Society member, contact Summer Merk at 513.862.3374 or Summer_Merk@trihealth.com. You will be able to join us next year for our 25th Anniversary Celebration!

Good Samaritan College Awards Nursing Scholarships

The Good Samaritan College of Nursing held their annual Scholarship Banquet on August 30, 2015. Thanks to the ongoing support of our scholarship donors, GSC was able to award scholarships totaling more than $163,000 to 95 students. Donations play a vital role in making these scholarship awards available each year. These awards would not be possible without the generous support of our alumni and friends.

WILLIAM H. ALBERS FOUNDATION

MEMORIALIZING A LEGACY OF COMPASSIONATE CARE

All patients, no matter the nature of their illness, deserve the best treatment available and the most compassionate care possible. As the founder of the first private psychiatric department in Greater Cincinnati in 1930, Good Samaritan Hospital remains committed to this belief and provides care to more than 2,000 patients every year with mental illness, many of whom are medically underserved. As national and local resources for people suffering from mental illness continue to decline, support for the Behavioral Health Unit at Good Samaritan Hospital has become more important than ever.

The Trustees of the William H. Albers Foundation understand this need as well as anyone. Their father, Dr. J. Harry Dornheggen, was a significant member of the Psychiatric Unit at Good Sam from 1952-1976 and made many contributions to psychiatric patients who are far too often overlooked. Dr. Dornheggen was a tireless advocate for mental health and was devoted to providing high quality care to patients. There are many people, both past and present, who owe Dr. Dornheggen a debt of gratitude for his dedication.

IMPACT

“WE BELIEVE OUR FATHER’S COMMITMENT TO CARING FOR PEOPLE WHO MANY OTHERS HAD DISCARDED WAS HIS GREATEST ACHIEVEMENT.”

– J. Harry Dornheggen, Jr.

Dr. Dornheggen also was the son-in-law of William H. Albers, founder of Albers Super Markets and creator of the William H. Albers Foundation in the mid-1950s to advance the quality of life for people in Cincinnati. Dr. Dornheggen’s children now act as Trustees for the Foundation and support many charitable efforts throughout the Cincinnati area. When they learned that the Behavioral Health Unit at Good Samaritan Hospital had not been renovated since their father’s tenure, they were eager to help ensure that patients experience the healing environment they deserve.

“We believe our father’s commitment to caring for people who many others had discarded was his greatest achievement. It is not only fitting to honor him by supporting the Behavioral Health Unit renovation at Good Sam, it is a privilege and something about which the William H. Albers Foundation is most proud,” says J. Harry Dornheggen, Jr. Because of the Foundation’s generosity, the work of Dr. Dornheggen will continue in an environment that matches his legacy of compassionate care. The physical transformation of the Behavioral Health Unit will enhance the treatment provided there, resulting in better outcomes that will bring comfort and peace to countless individuals for years to come.

HONORING THE PAST BY ADVANCING THE FUTURE

Take one step into Lair Kennedy's office building and you will instantly know he has a profound respect for history. The office, a former fire station full of reclaimed building materials and salvaged items, reflects the heritage of the building itself and those who served to keep the community safe. At the same time, when you begin speaking with Lair, you will also instantly know he has his eye on the future with his interest in robotic-assisted surgery. It is this combination of respecting the past and continually innovating and improving for the future that made his gift to help purchase the Magellan Robotic System for Good Samaritan Hospital a natural fit.

From the care that Lair and his family have received at Good Sam, Lair says he "has a deep appreciation for what an incredible place Good Sam is." He understands that medical advancements are critical to improving patients' lives, recognizing that in the past patient outcomes have been very different. Therefore, Good Sam's robotics program was of particular interest to Lair as an opportunity to make a difference for the community.

Good Sam has established a leadership position in robotics by being the first and largest provider of da Vinci surgical procedures in Cincinnati. Just as the da Vinci robot has revolutionized general surgery, the Magellan robotics system is causing a paradigm shift in vascular therapy. Through his professional involvement with the Magellan system and his knowledge of Good Sam's market-leading robotics program, Lair says "Good Sam was the perfect fit to bring the Magellan system to Cincinnati." After meeting with Good Sam surgeons and recognizing their commitment to remain at the forefront of robotic surgery, Lair chose to make a gift to help bring the Magellan to Good Sam. Of his decision, Lair says "it's easy to support an organization that has given so much to my family, and I want to be able to provide that to other people."

In the short time since the Magellan arrived, Good Sam physicians have pioneered new procedures and have quickly made Good Sam the worldwide leader in Magellan robotic-assisted surgeries. "I'm thrilled with the success of the program to date, and to be part of bringing the robot to Good Sam," Lair says. "Cincinnati is so fortunate to have great institutions like Good Sam because of the rich history of our city. These institutions have been built to our benefit. It's very easy to take our institutions for granted, and it is only with the support of current and future generations that they will continue to thrive. I want to do my part to keep that going." With an impact on patient outcomes in Cincinnati and around the world, Lair Kennedy has honored Good Sam's history of compassionate care by helping propel it into the future.

CARING FOR THE FUTURE

RECIPIENTS OF THE ROBERT AND CHRISTINE STEINMANN FAMILY FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIPS: ALYSSA THIEL, KATELYN WILKINS, KYLIE SHARROCK, KYLE DIPUCCIO

During their lifetime, Robert and Christine Steinmann understood that education is the key to caring for self, family, and community. They also understood that oftentimes the support and kindness of others can advance someone on his or her journey during a time of need. That is why they created the Robert and Christine Steinmann Family Foundation, which provides scholarships to students at the Good Samaritan College of Nursing and Health Science each year.

Christine, a graduate of the Good Samaritan Hospital School of Nursing (as it was then known in the 1950s), was one of six children. When her mother died at a young age, Christine was blessed with the help of others to get through that difficult time and eventually attend nursing school. Christine knew that the generosity of others allowed her to realize her potential, and one day wanted to extend this opportunity to others.

In 1958 she married Robert Steinmann, a pharmacist and businessman who also came from modest means but worked hard to build a happy and successful life. Together, they wanted to provide other individuals the same opportunities they were given, and believed that investment in education was one way to accomplish this. The mission of their foundation, they said, is “to help those in need help themselves, through the practical application of knowledge and resources that improve the quality of their lives and the lives of future generations.”

This year, Kyle DiPuccio, Kylie Sharrock, Alyssa Thiel and Katelyn Wilkins are the scholarship recipients of the Steinmann’s legacy of generosity. These students will learn not only the science of nursing, but also the art of nursing, resulting in competent, compassionate care to patients. Robert and Christine Steinmann would be happy to know that their gifts are impacting the future of not only these students, but of all those to whom they will provide care throughout their career.

A DEEPER SENSE OF COMMITMENT

“THE MORE PEOPLE WHO ARE HELPING AND GIVING,
THE MORE WE CAN ACCOMPLISH.”

– Erik Dunki-Jacobs, MD

Being proud of and committed to the work we do is something we all strive for in our daily lives. Regardless of the task, taking pride in our day to day activities is fulfilling and helps give us a sense of purpose. For Dr. Erik Dunki-Jacobs, being committed to his work has taken on new meaning since making a gift to the TriHealth Cancer Institute Patient Fund.

Dr. Dunki-Jacobs did his general surgery residency at Good Samaritan Hospital. After graduating in 2011, he completed a two-year fellowship at the University of Louisville in Surgical Oncology and Hepatico-pancreatico-biliary (HPB) Surgery. Dr. Dunki-Jacobs returned to Good Sam in 2013 and now practices as a surgical oncologist in the TriHealth Cancer and Surgical Institutes. He specializes in delivering advanced surgical care to patients diagnosed with a variety of cancers. When asked why he chose this field of medicine, Dr. Dunki-Jacobs explains, “Oncology is a specialty within surgery where I can have a long-term relationship with my patients and their families.” He also enjoys the collaborative aspect of his field. He regularly works with other types of cancer specialists in order to provide the best possible care for his patients.

While collaboration is critical to his practice of medicine, Dr. Dunki-Jacobs also believes that collaboration is critical if philanthropy is going to make a difference for the patients and the community that Good Sam serves. “To have a hospital where we are proud to work and a program that provides care we can all be proud of requires a little bit extra,” he says. “If I am able to help with just a little part of that, and if other people do their parts, we can all work together and contribute significantly to the overall care for our patients.”

Dr. Dunki-Jacobs is clearly dedicated to providing the best, most compassionate care possible for all patients. He also appreciates all that Good Sam has given to him and his career, as he considers Good Sam his “second home.” That’s why his gift, which will contribute to various efforts that will directly impact the lives of cancer patients and their families, was an “easy decision.” Of his gift, Dr. Dunki-Jacobs says, “I think that all of us as physicians are trying to give the best care to our patients. There are a lot of patients who can’t afford certain things and deserve a better quality of care. Giving helps me feel invested in them and invested in Good Sam. If my gift helps in any way, I’m happy with that.”

Giving back to Good Sam has provided Erik Dunki-Jacobs, MD with a deeper sense of commitment to the work he does every day and to the patients that he cares for. His hope is that others will feel the desire to contribute as well: “The more people who are helping and giving, the more we can accomplish.”

THE HEART OF GIVING: FROM THE BEGINNING TO THE MOST ADVANCED TECHNOLOGY

*A*ugust 12, 2005 is a date Hal and Donna Klink will always remember. It was one day before Hal's birthday, and he was one of the first 100 people in Greater Cincinnati to undergo a heart procedure using minimally invasive, robotic-assisted surgery at Good Samaritan Hospital. Although the couple learned of Hal's heart condition two years prior to surgery, the thought of a traditional open-chest procedure and the long, arduous recovery that would follow was too difficult to undertake. That all changed, however, when they met Dr. J. Michael Smith.

In 2004, Hal was asked to join the Finance Committee of the Foundation Board of trustees. It was that involvement that caused him and Donna to witness the arrival of Good Sam's first daVinci surgical robot which was made possible by generous donors. As time progressed they spoke with Dr. Smith and learned that Hal was a candidate for robotic-assisted surgery with the daVinci. Together, they decided it was time to address Hal's heart condition now that there was a minimally invasive option.

The day of the surgery was a difficult one. They were simultaneously apprehensive and optimistic about the opportunity to pioneer new technology. Hal was taken into surgery, and the wait began for Donna and their two daughters. Donna remarks that while sitting and waiting while a loved one is in surgery is incredibly difficult, everyone at Good Sam was "fabulous," noting that "all the people who touch your life that day are very important...I don't think you could ask for nicer people to take care of you." Hal's surgery was successful, and due to the benefits of the da Vinci, Hal was able to return home after only three days in the hospital. He was back to work in two weeks. When asked of his experience, Hal has a simple, yet profound response: "It kept me alive."

Hal and Donna saw firsthand how the generosity of others can not only save a life, but do so in a way that maintains the best quality of life possible. Already involved in giving back to the community, including Good Sam in their efforts was natural. Hal and Donna support Good Samaritan Hospital both through gifts of treasure and time. Hal has served in multiple roles over the years as Chairman and Trustee of the Foundation, a TriHealth Board Committee Member, and a Good Samaritan College of Nursing and Health Science Board Member. Donna is a member of The Good Samaritans, a volunteer organization associated with the Foundation dedicated to assisting Good Sam in its mission through raising funds to support various programs and initiatives.

Their most recent gift helped bring the next generation of robotic assisted surgery to Good Sam with the da Vinci Xi, the newest version of the same robot that saved Hal's life a decade ago. With their gift, Hal and Donna have one principal hope: to save more lives. "Good Sam stands for compassion," Donna says. "Our gift is just a part of that; it's about giving back and helping others in the community where you live, the community where your family lives." With the achievements made in Good Sam's Robotics Program and the expanded offerings of minimally invasive procedures now possible with the da Vinci Xi, Hal and Donna Klink's hope is coming true every single day.
