

Alycia Gutekunst, PT, MSPT

Alycia Gutekunst graduated from Springfield College in 2003 with a Masters of Science in Physical Therapy. She started her career in Acute Rehabilitation at The Drake Center and later returned to work at Encompass Health, treating patients with stroke, SCI, TBI, amputations, various neurological diagnoses, and multi-trauma. During her nine years working in Acute Rehab, she was RESNA (ATP) certified for custom wheelchair seating and positioning. Alycia has also worked in various settings, including Bethesda North Hospital and Good Samaritan Hospital on both acute care and rehab units, The Christ Hospital in the ICU and cardiac unit, and several subacute facilities. She has worked full-time at Bethesda North Hospital for the past seven years and has been part of the BN 2300 Early Mobility in the ICU committee.

Alycia has been a guest lecturer to the UC Medical Center Rehab Department, provided fall prevention/transfer training education to new staff at Encompass Health, and presented at the 2025 TriHealth Healthy Aging: Movement Is Medicine program. She has served as a certified clinical instructor for PT students from several universities over the past ten years. Alycia is passionate about working with the neurological population and helping patients achieve an improved quality of life and personal goals.
